WHAT

AMERICA VOTES

The U.S. president is elected every four years. The same president can only be elected twice.

The next presidential election will be in 2008. A new president will be chosen.

Will the new president be a Republican or a Democrat ?

WHO

AMERICAN VOTER

The right to vote is very important to every American. But not every American can vote.

Children cannot vote; people in jail cannot vote.

Voters must be at least 18 years-old. Voters can vote at a “polling place” or by mail.

PLACES IN THE NEWS

WHERE

POLLING PLACE

People vote at a “polling place.”
Polling places are in every neighborhood.

A polling place can be a: church,
library, fire station, school or any public building.

Helpers at the polling place show voters how to vote.
